Holistic Transformation Project

In Belize, Central America

BACKGROUND

The pandemic's economic impact on Belize has significantly increased the number of people without homes and jobs. Many of them are young men who have told me, with tears in their eyes, "What we want is a job, so that we can live. Shelter and simple meals are good enough for us. But we can't get it!"

When I ask, "Do you want to improve your life and have a better future?" They often reply, "Yes, but we don't know how to do that!"

This is why I am starting Maker Impact Center. It is an invitation to learn new skills, work, and build a meaningful life upon Biblical values.

Corozal Bay, Belize

THE PLAN

The Maker Impact Center (MIC) will offer a two-year holistic transformation program for young men that includes:

- Free lodging & meals
- Job opportunities & training
- Community-building activities
- Christian teaching & mentorship

MIC will function as a social enterprise. The main business will be a farm: We will grow vegetables and raise livestock to sell to the community. We will set up small businesses to employ program participants and provide training in farming, welding, auto mechanics, carpentry, basic computer skills, bookkeeping and social media.

Trainees and mentors will live, learn, and work together. Upon completing the program, the trainees will be equipped to take care of themselves and their families.

ABOUT OUR FOUNDER

My name is Gregory Har, a mission pastor came to Belize since 2019. In my three decades of pastoral and church ministry and in my own life, I have witnessed the transformative power of Christian discipleship. I also have 18 years of manufacturing engineering and management experience that I am excited to bring to this project.

I have been staying in Corozal Town since 2019. For more information about the organization, go to Mexicali Chinese Baptist (MCB), <https://mcbmexicali.churchtrac.com>
